SAVE THEM!

Comrades: Once again you are called upon to aid other members of the working class who are fighting the battle of Labor against great odds. This time the call comes from a Texas, where fourteen of your comrades, American and Mexican workingmen, are on trial for their lives,

They are honorable, upright men. all of them. Men who love liberty. They are innocent of any crime except that of being true to the cause of human freedom. They are members of the great labor movement, your assistance.

On September 11, 1913, a small party of workingmen, of which the fourteen men on trial were members. made an attempt to cross the Mexican border from Texas in order that they might participate in the struggle of their brothers in Mexico for Land and Liberty. They were armed, of course. You would not expect men to join the revolution in Mexico without a gun.
