No sensible man will care a fig about the triumph of Scoinlism or Anarchism as such; on the contrary warned by the tragedy of human history, he will dread the elevation of any "lam" into a fotish. What we are after is results, what we want is a life that shall be worth the living. And the hopeful sign of the times is that the workers grow impatient; that they weary of holding the bag for leaders who lead nowhere and of managers who only manage to drive them into the bread line and to the shelter of the municipal lodging na house, weary of serving as food for powder in political battles; weary of the "mañana" policy with which It has been the fashion to twit Mexicans, though we ourselves still ilsten submissively to paid party orathe entire to the same and a contract to the grant of the same and a contract to the same and a same tors who preach patience and exude at every pore moralizations on the slow processes of evolution It is well, I say, that the masses are showing signs of impatience, it is excellent that they are beginning to understand the strength that lies in is especially alarming attack and the fatal weakness of about Syndicalism is that it appeared standing everlastingly in the apoloand suddenly manifested itself in the getic attitude of defense; it is adas has every new mirable that the individual syndicalforce in history" The quotation is list is recognizing that if he wants "The Birth of a New Power," his life looked after he must look

Campaign Fans Flames of Discontent among Impoverished Masses

save Government Forces to Disarm

Having been accused of exaggerating the upheaval in Mexico, and even of manufacturing evidence to support our assertions, we filled more than two pages of our Spanish section last week with clippings taken from such capitalist papers as the "Times," "Examiner," and "Herald" of Los Angeles, and "El Imparcial," "El Diario," and "El Pais," of Mexico, every one of which supported our statements. In the English section our information was taken, as it has been almost invariably, from leading American and Mexican dailies, specially selected as unlikely to magnify disturbances. While containing no accounts of pitched battles, it was probably the stormiest number we have issued, so far as guerrilla activity and political encounters, strikes and peon uprisings are concerned.

There are no signs of the storm abating. According to "El Pals," the leading Roman Catholic organ, Madero delivered a long speech at Atlixco, July 19, devoted mainly to what has been his favorite theme of late-disarmament. He declared specifically that only the troops necessary for the preservation of order should bear arms. We treated this subject last week, Pryce and Jack B. Mosby, Ricardo of rulers. in connection with a "Times" telegram which stated that, at Puebla, Madero had asserted that "throughout the Republic the Maderists should be disarmed, since their insubordination was a danger to the peace" It is notorious that in numerous states the Maderists have been in open rebellion, demanding back pay and claiming that they expected land as the result of Madero's triumph. Our own advice was and is that,, if they render attorney. themselves helpless by giving up their arms, they may whistle to the wind for the fulfillment of their late leader's promises.

As bearing on this point we quote the following United Press dispatch, there are charges of murder and arthe Western Federation of Miners, exdated Agua Prieta, Mex, July 20: "Martial law was enforced here today. son—Salis, Laflin and Reed, said: pressing sympathy and sending money No one was permitted to cross the international line into Douglas, Ariz. The editor's comment is that "this does not appear to be a remote French Syndicalism has brought probability, for throughout Pachuca the talk is of conspiracies."

Because we are teaching what Socialists in British colonists recognize as basic truths we are assailed without mercy by American Socialists of the Victor Berger stripe.

"Workers are encouraged to vote because it keeps them amused and doesn't hurt the capitalists. The delusion that they are helping to make the laws keeps them from organizing against the exploiters.

"Parliament is but a reflex of the prevailing economic system. capitalists did not establish parliaments before they had selzed property. They first seized property, and then made their seizure "moral" by Act of Parliament. Let the workers. then, learn the important economic lesson that when they have the power and the will to take what they and Anarchists. make, the "legality" as well as the 'morality' of their actions will be self-evident.
