C. B.
Dear Comrades:

Upon examining the circular of the CB on the recruiting campaign of the C. P's. and "El Comunista" #4, dedicated to this campaign, the Latin American Secretariat of the CI approves the resolution of the CB on the recruiting campaign as well as the methods of developing same.

The indication of the bureau is not completely correct when it says that the minimum of the literature to be published by the Parties is to be two manifestos to the peasants and the unemployed. This can be falsely understood by the Parties as an advice to put the major attention on the recruiting of new members for the CP among the unemployed in comparison to the recruiting among the workers in the enterprises. However, it is necessary to insist on the publication of ~~the~~ manifesto addressed to the workers in the enterprises.

It is also necessary to stress that the indications on the percentage of the distinct social groups during the recruiting must not be understood mechanically, particularly when the percentage of workers recruited may be surpassed in cases where the recruiting is carried out successfully (but this recruiting of workers must be done without weakening the attention given to the recruiting of peasants, for example).

It would be very desirable if, in the future, the bureau give directives on the carrying out of the campaign, differentiating the campaign by countries in accordance with the respective conditions in each one and also taking into consideration the state of the C.P's.

LATIN AMERICAN SECRETARIAT

P. S. We would like you to send us regularly reports on the development of the campaign.
