

ANTHOLOGY
of REVOLUTIONARY POETRY

Compiled and Edited by Marcus Graham

With an Introduction by
Lucia Trent and Ralph Cheyney

An Anthology of the poetry of social vision and revolt that covers the past century as well as contemporary English literature has been compiled after years of research by its editor, Marcus Graham. It also includes translations of the most important libertarian and revolutionary poems of modern Russian, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Armenian, Ukrainian, Greek, Scandinavian, Chinese, Japanese, Indian and Jewish literature.

In the name of a freer, happier human society which we mutually hold at heart, we appeal to you to enlist with us in winning a large reading public for this collection of poems demanding social justice.

The most effective manner in which you can render immediate help is by sending in your own subscription, and that of as many friends as you can interest.

The pre-publication price for the regular cloth-bound edition is $2.00.

The pre-publication price for the de-luxe edition is $4.00.

After publication the price will be $3.00 for the regular edition and $5.00 for the de-luxe.

A Publication Fund has been opened to all who wish to make any loans or contributions.

Twenty per cent of the profits from the Anthology sales will be given by the Publication Committee, every year, to the most needy struggling force for economic and political liberty.
